Last week's Swede Festival to celebrate mid-winter proved to be as successful as ever.

The awesome models, and delicious baking the children create from the good old Southland Swede never cease to amaze me and I'm glad I don't have the difficult job of judging these outstanding exhibits. A scrumptious barbecue accompanied by Kerry McLean's mouth-watering swede soup fortified some very hungry children after a busy morning crafting decorated swede heads, swede cars and swede houses. The swede games in the afternoon proved to be loads of fun and it was a great way to bring an exciting celebration to a close. There was a fantastic turn-out of parents helping and participating in the events of the day. Many, many thanks to everyone involved.

It's hard to believe, but yes, term two concludes next Friday 4 July. Enjoy the mid-winter break with your family and we look forward to seeing everyone back at school to begin the third term on Monday 21 July.

In love with our in cheeky kea? Did you know there's a young one hanging out in the Kids Restore the Kepler area at present?

The Kea Conservation Trust will be in Te Anau this month as part of their Winter Advocacy Tour:
Monday 30th June, 7.30pm at Fiordland National Park Visitor Centre.

With the stories being about a bird as charismatic as the kea - this evening will be as entertaining as it is informative! Children welcome and encouraged (apologies in advance to your teachers if you are a little tired the next day at school!)

Gold coin donation to Kea Conservation Trust

Room 3 is currently reading "The Borrowers" in class. The movie will be on channel Four at 6.30pm this Saturday if you are looking for some family entertainment.

Star crazy fun at Te Anau Library!
